

Why do multiplication and division have the same rank?

Why do addition and subtraction have the same rank?