

What's the difference between solving proportions by equivalent fractions

or

solving by direct proportions (variations)?