Probability

Probability is defined as the ratio; success to total. To write that mathematically, we have;

$$Probability = \frac{success}{success + failure}$$

Success plus failure is equal to the total number of things that could happen.