In all the problems we have solved, we were able to make the bases the same, then set the exponents equal. What happens when we can't make the bases the same?

It's coming, tune in next week when we introduce logarithms ;-)